WHO IS RMAI?

The Receivables Management Association International (RMAI) is a nonprofit trade association that represents the Receivables Management Industry. We provide networking, education and business development opportunities through events and communications. We also maintain a highly effective advocacy program at the state and federal levels to protect and promote the industry. Our Receivables Management Certification Program and Code of Ethics protect consumers and businesses by setting the gold standard through uniform industry best practices.
