

Returning to the Workplace in a Covid-19 Environment

May 12, 2020 – 9:00am PT/11:00am CT/12:00pm ET

One Half (1/2) RMAI Education Credit toward Certification/Recertification

A resounding theme of today's news cycle is returning to work. The federal government has released their three-phase "Opening Up America Again" program and state governments are beginning to develop their plans for restarting their local economies. Yet, even as workplaces prepare to open up around the country, the need for proper risk mitigation policies and practices, balanced with genuine care for employees and their families, remain as important as ever.

In this session, we will cover the specific technical requirements employers must establish within the office but through lens of the particular considerations this transition may have on employees impacted by the pandemic. Eric Ziehlke – Human Resource Specialist and Bill Dardano – Safety Specialist will share key information that every employer should know in this highly practical session.

Pricing:

Member: Free

Non – Member: $94

Register

Course Presenters:

Eric Ziehlke, HR Specialist. Eric comes to Insperity with nearly 25 years of experience in higher education. His background is in academic operations and enrollment management. He has extensive experience in change leadership, strategic planning, personnel development, and P&L management. He served six years in the Ohio Air National Guard as a firefighter. Eric has a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology from Ohio University and an MBA from University of Phoenix.

Bill Dardano, Safety Consultant. Bill is a safety professional with over 11 years of multi-site safety management experience. He has an additional twenty years of corporate experience in a variety of other roles. He is an OSHA authorized trainer and has developed and implemented numerous safety management systems. He attended DePaul University.