

Call for Presentations

Due August 11, 2025

The Receivables Management Association International (RMAI) is now accepting presentation proposals for the 2026 RMAI Annual Conference, which will take place February 9-12, 2026, at the Aria Resort & Casino in Las Vegas, Nevada.

RMAI designs Annual Conference programming to further the education of receivables management industry professionals and support the RMAI Receivables Management Certification Program. The Annual Conference has continued to be the leader in the industry with over 1,500 attendees comprised of buyers, collectors, attorneys, banks and creditors, with the majority being executives, operations, sales & marketing professionals, business development, and compliance officers.

RMAI is seeking presentations with the following criteria:

- An interactive and engaging program format
- Audience participation and/or discussion
- Presenters identified in advance
 - Preference on speakers from more than one company
- Innovative and insightful content
- Educational focus (no sales pitch)

Limited slots are available.

PREVIEW the Proposal Form: It is recommended to review the proposal form first so you can provide a complete proposal.

PROPOSE an Education Session

Deadlines & Timeline for 2026 Annual Conference

August 11, 2025 – Proposals are due

September 30, 2025 – Notification of Acceptance or Non-Acceptance

October 30, 2025 – Speaker Materials Due (Bio, Photo, Signed Contributor Release Form)

November 15, 2025 – Title and Course Description Due (if not already determined by proposal)

December 7, 2025 – Speaker Registration Deadline (for confirmed speakers only)

January 10, 2026 – PPT Presentations Due (content review is required)